GREENE TO GET NEW RAILROAD

Pennsylvania Railroad to Build Line From Besco to Clarksville

STORY OUT AT BROWNSVILLE

Developments are now in progress for the opening of Greene county coal fields by the Pennsylvania Railroad company constructing a line from Besco to Clarksville, where one branch will lead to Waynesburg and another to Marianna and Hackney. The new road is to be constructed at a cost of $3,000,000. The story comes from Brownsville.

H. C. Booz, assistant chief engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad company and his assistant, E. W. Clarke, were in Brownsville Thursday and went over the new route. Mr. Clarke was left at Besco with a gang of engineers to make the survey and prepare the plans for contractors. The road to be constructed is a sure go and its confirmation came from a reliable and authentic source.

The plan of the Pennsylvania is to connect with the Pennsylvania Monongahela Southern line at Besco. The line will come through Millsboro and the coal is to travel down the river. From Besco the line will be one mile long to Clarksville. Here there will be two branches following the forks of Ten Mile creek. The North branch of the railroad will lead to Marianna and Hackney, the South line into Waynesburg.

From all indications, one of the officials of the company stated, the contract for the new lines will be let in two months. He stated further if labor conditions were good there would be trains running over the new roads in less than 12 months. "If the present labor conditions remain, it is hard to tell when the road will be completed," said the official.

One of the engineers of the company said there would be much grading to be done on the new routes, but there will be few bridges to construct. The line will be free from bad curves and steep grades, permitting fast time to be made.

Ten Mile Creek Branch is the new name for the diversion of the Pennsylvania road to open up the Greene county coal fields, which are practically controlled by Fayette county capitalists.

While there are no works constructed along the new routes, and every available source of securing the information from the officials was supposed to have been cut off, there was a leak and as a result several different companies have been organized and as soon as the railroad awards the contracts, works will be in the course of construction along all parts of the road. One reliable coal man stated that in all probability the majority of the new plants will be by-product.

GIRLS TEAM TO PLAY GAME

The girls' basketball team of high school Saturday afternoon will play their first game of the present season, with the West Newton girls' teams as opponents. This year the girls team is being developed into a splendid machine and high school anticipates for them a successful season.

Due Tribute to be Paid Admiral Dewey

The nation will pay its last tribute to Admiral George Dewey in expressive form at Washington on Saturday. While all the machinery of the government from the Atlantic to the Pacific is stilled in silent respect to the passing of the hero, the heads of the nation will gather in the rotunda of the capitol to pay the final respects of the country to the mortal remains of the heroic admiral.

Every channel of government activity Friday showed its veneration for the dead admiral. President Wilson in a message breathing veneration and affection announced the death of the highest naval official of the land to congress and issued a special executive order that all flags be placed at half mast until after the funeral.

Congress, both house and senate, after being officially notified by the president of the death of Admiral Dewey, adopted resolutions expressing the profound regret with which they received the notification and both adjourned for the day out of respect to the memory of the departed hero.

BATHERS NUMBER 15,000 IN 1916

Annual Report for Year Encouraging—Improvements Noteworthy

VALUE OF BEACH IS SHOWN

Fifteen thousand bathers were accommodated at the Charleroi bathing beach during the 1916 season, which lasted for a period of 75 days according to the report of the Bathing beach association for the year. The year was closed with a deficit, but the deficit was not large. A noteworthy feature is that while notable improvements were made to the bathing beach property during the year the deficit was smaller than that which faced the association at the close of 1915.

Ten rescues of children were made during the year and six ladies and two men were pulled out. A misfortune that proved a serious drawback was that the beach was compelled to close one month during the summer on account of.

MUCH COAL GOING DOWN THE RIVER

No Shortage Yet, Though Factory and Domestic Consumption is High

MINERS ARE STILL SCARCE

In spite of floating ice, which with a fall of snow over night made steamboating difficult on the river, much coal is passing down. It is mostly consigned for local use at the large mills and factories. The cold snap has increased the demand for domestic purposes, but no shortage has been reported as yet.

Miners at the various coal works are still scarce and shippers find it hard to keep up the supply at several of the larger mines. The owners are offering a bonus for ten-day continuous labor as an inducement to the men to keep at work.

Owing to the bad weather which has retarded building activity the sand and gravel business has fallen off to some extent. Men dealing in these commodities are stocking up for a heavy spring and summer trade.

Capt. John F. Kline has sold the small harbor boat Repose to parties in St. Louis, Mo., where she will be placed in a local and short line trade. The purchase price was $3,500.

Charles Logan, chief engineer of the U. S. Steamer Swan is critically ill at his home in Mt. Washington.

Robert J. McKean of Belle Vernon has taken a position with the Denbo Coal and Coke company near Brownsville, owned and operated by W. H. Brown.

Another large consignment of coke was received at the Wireton dock this morning to be delivered by rail to the mills in Monessen.

A fleet of empty coal craft was delivered to the Charleroi mine of the Youghiogheny and Ohio Coal company this morning by the steamer Vesta to be loaded for the Jones & Laughlin company.

AUGUST WAUTHY, WELL KNOWN YOUNG MAN DIES

Former Popular Newsboy, Who Sold Papers For Years on Fifth Street Corner Victim of Tuberculosis at Home on Ninth Street

August Wauthy, aged 19 years and seven months, formerly a newsboy employed by Might's book store, died at 3 o'clock this morning from an illness of tuberculosis. He has been in failing health for the last six months. Surviving are his parents Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wauthy of 306 Ninth street, where the young man died, one brother Arthur at home, and two sisters, Mrs. Richard Hienaux of North Charleroi and Mrs. John Roux of Charleroi. The funeral will be held with requiem high mass at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at St. Jerome's Catholic church and interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

Wauthy was a newsboy from eight to ten years here and one of the most popular ever employed by the Might firm. He was popular because of his

BRIDGE DECISION BOOSTS HIGHWAY

Monessen-Belle Vernon Project to be Fought by Monessen Board of Trade

ROAD PETITION IS ALIVE

The cold shoulder given to the Monessen-Charleroi free bridge movement by Judge J. A. McIlvaine of Washington county in a recent decision will serve as an impetus to a good roads' proposition that the Monessen Board of Trade has been contemplating for years. The project in question is a continuation of the Webster-Monessen river road to Belle Vernon.

A petition is alive for the improvement of the road by the township and state. Already the road from Webster to Monessen has been completed and it is a much traveled highway. It is argued that the Monessen-Belle Vernon road presents needs of improvement fully as great.

FOSTER GETS COUNTY SEAT POSTMASTERSHIP

Nomination is Confirmed by Senate Putting Acting Postmaster in Actual Charge at Washington—Favored by Guffey

John Foster, prominent Democrat and acting postmaster of Washington following the retirement of Joe W. Martin, yesterday was nominated by President Wilson for appointment as postmaster. The appointment will be effective following confirmation by the senate. It is not believed any obstacles will be placed in the way of favorable action by the upper body of congress.

The recommendation for the appointment of Mr. Foster has been in the hands of First Assistant Postmaster General Koons for some time, it being understood that Joseph W. Guffey of Allegheny county, Western Pennsylvania Democratic leader and referee for presidential appointments, favored his selection. Many leading Democrats of Washington were also pushing Mr. Foster for the place.

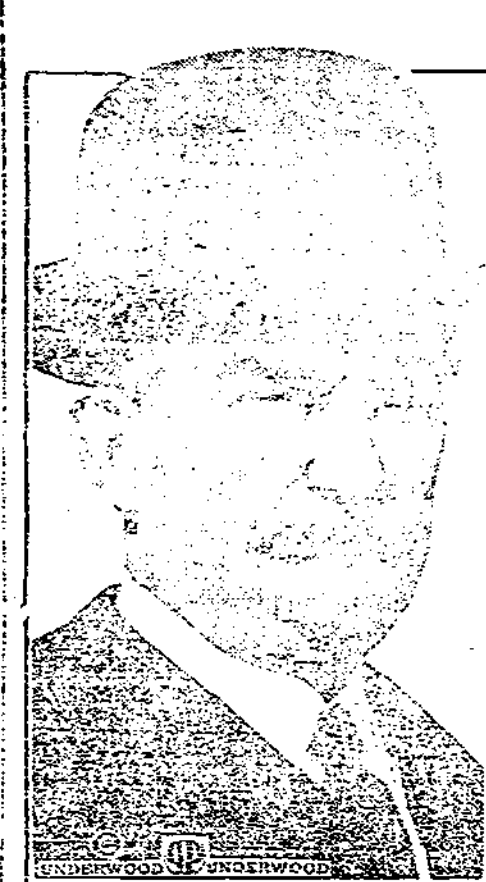

When Mr. Martin resigned as postmaster two months ago, Mr. Foster was named to take charge of the office by Mr. Martin's bondsmen, who really have been in charge of the office ever since. Mr. Foster acting for them.

As soon as it was known that Mr. Martin's resignation was in the hands of the postoffice department a scramble ensued among local Democrats to land the job among the candidates being W. H. Ecker, county chairman; A. F. Montgomery, clerk in the county commissioners' office; U. G. Ramsey, Ed. Brady, former postmaster, and others.

It was not long before the information leaked out that Foster had been endorsed by Mr. Guffey and that the recommendation had been sent to the postoffice department. Efforts were made to have the recommendation withdrawn in the interests of other candidates, but these were unavailing.

Mr. Foster's commission will be good for four years from the date of confirmation by the senate.

Lawson Investigation Now Well Under Way

The latest development in the national note leak investigation is the action Wednesday of the national house at Washington authorizing the employment of counsel and accountants for a hearing to be held at Washington or elsewhere. The elsewhere may be in Wall street, New York.

The additional information Thomas Lawson Wednesday claimed to have from Mrs. Visconti bore on the source of Mrs. Visconti's story. He desired to tell the committee in secret where she learned her alleged news. Mrs. Visconti was located at her home overnight. She agreed that she would appear to testify before the committee. From her the committee expects to obtain much valuable information pertaining to the alleged leak.

WANT TROLLEY ALONG YOUGH

Slogan Changed from "Dam the Yough" to "Electrify the Yough"

WEST NEWTON IS INTERESTED

The old slogan "Dam the Yough" has been changed to a new, and it is believed a more attractive one. It is "Trolley the Yough valley," build street car lines along the stream and connect up all of the towns and mining villages and then build a line over through Wyno, Yukon, the Madisons and either strike Greensburg direct or connect with the West Penn lines at Hunker. The Yough valley people want better connections with the county and the street car people, it is said, are seriously considering the project. The West Newton borough council several years ago granted the Kuhn a franchise in that town. Five or six squares of tracks were laid when streets over which the line is to run, were laid when the streets were paved.

The territory to be embraced in the proposed trolley extensions is very populous and a line built through it will be assured a big patronage. One of the best informed business men in the Yough valley said that he had information from a reliable source saying that these lines will be built this year.

UNCLE SAM TO HELP FARMERS

Efforts Under Way to Get Man on the Farm to Use Parcel Post

LOCAL PEOPLE INTERESTED

Uncle Sam has a scheme to aid the consumer in solving the high cost of living problem. He proposes to bring buyer and seller together through the medium of the mails and Postmaster J. K. Smith is his emissary here. Postmaster Smith has taken up this new phase of his work and is mailing circulars, explaining the plan which is as follows:

Farmers or others who have eggs, butter and fresh or smoked meats for sale should file their names and the produce or meats' and price with the postmaster. Prospective purchasers can have access to this list and get in touch with sellers through the mail. The articles will be delivered by parcel post at a reasonable rate. It is believed that this will bring the farmers and purchasers directly together and will do away with the profits secured by the middle men.

The scheme is being fostered by the postoffice department and the circulars mailed broadcast through the first and second parcel post zones have been given the sanction of the department heads at Washington, D. C. It is being tried in other sections.

One of the first things Postmaster Smith is doing in preparing for innovation is securing information on the proper kind of containers for the different sorts of products.

VESTA NO. 6 RIVER TIPPLE TO BE READY FOR USE BY FEBRUARY

The Vesta No. 6 river tipple of the Jones & Laughlin company at West Brownsville is about completed and the company expects to be shipping coal about February 1 by river. Much importance is attached to this late announcement. The Vesta No. 6 when running full will have a production of approximately 4,000 tons a day, employing 700 men.

MRS. CHARLES MOODY DIES WEDNESDAY AT HOME IN VESTA

WATCHING HOME-TRADE

Since foreign countries, rather influential citizens of foreign countries, are organizing for protection of their home trade and for the expansion of foreign trade after a manner unprecedented in the history of commerce it is only fair that Americans organize for the better protection of America and her trade. This applies generally.

What brings up this thought is the action taken by the school board of the Charleroi school district this week in favoring home insurance concerns for fire insurance to be carried on the school property. Their action is in the interests of home trade just as much as the purchase of home-made desks or lighting fixtures would be.

There is practically no variance in the prices of fire insurance, whether domestic or foreign. If there was and if the foreign were the cheaper then there would be some reason for patronizing the foreign concerns.

All things being equal, however, it is only right and fair that American companies be given the business.
England and France are watching such things now, if they never did before, and why should not the United States?

BATHING BEACH A SUCCESS

The annual report of the Charleroi
Bathing Beach association for 1916
shows that the association is not conducting a losing venture, even though there was a slight deficit during the year. The deficit was created by new and extraordinary expenses incidental to getting the beach in shape, yet in spite of this was smaller than for 1915, the first year the beach operated.

In the light of all discouragements
of the year the report of the beach association is decidedly cheering. For one month practically during the best bathing season the beach was closed to bathers because of the infantile paralysis scare in this state.
That cut sharply into receipts. The fore part of the season was given over to a prevailing coolness that discouraged bathing.

In spite of all the drawbacks there were 15,000 bathers by actual count, and some may have been missed, who enjoyed their plunge at the beach in the summer of 1916. Their bathing was done during a period of 75 days, so that the average number of bathers was 200 a day. Lots of days during the rush season this average was beaten. Total receipts during the year were $1,522.18 and deficit $354.95. The total deficit was $476.45, the previous year.

At the beginning of the 1916 season several improvements were made.
Included were those of a shower bath and the erection of an additional bathhouse for men. These improvements were costly, and they were directly responsible for the deficit of the year.

The report lends optimism to the outlook for the coming year. The Charleroi Bathing Beach appears firmly established. No longer is it a mere experiment.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

THE ELECTORAL ELECTION.

President Wilson has now been re-elected President. It happened last Monday. The casual reader may insist that it happened in November,
but he is wrong. The November election meant nothing in the sight of the constitution. From a legal standpoint, the President was not elected until forty-eight little groups of citizens designated as electors
met in their various state capitals
and cast their ballots.

These electors had absolute power.
They could have elected Mr. Hughes or Mr. Roosevelt, or Mr. Bryan, or Mr. Davis or Tom Lanson and their choice would have been final. The electoral party could rage and the nation could be torn by factional strife but the supreme court would unquestionably have had to give its approval. The basic law of the land provides no alternative.

Nothing but a sense of public responsibility made those electors vote as they did. But that is the most powerful force in this country. That very sense of public responsibility is umn or two every day, that's a stronger than law. Our laws have been broken countless times. The constitution has been defied over and over again. But only a single elector dared to use his own discretion and vote contrary to the expressed will of the community he represented.

And that was from a noble motive.

"This," says the New York World,
"is the sharpest test that a self-governing people can apply itself. Clumsy and dangerous as we know the

that our institutions are stable and that they are not to be betrayed."

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Three West Virginia towns are facing an outbreak of infantile paralysis which has exploded one theory as to the cause and prevention of this mysterious malady. It had been thought it was a hot weather disease and the experience of past epidemics had seemingly borne this out. But Elkins has had 29 cases, Grafton 15 and Fairmont 2 and this during one of the most protracted cold spells ever experienced in the communities.

Both state and federal experts are working with local practitioners in an effort to prevent further spread of the disease in each of the three towns.
Methods of quarantine have been adopted, schools have been closed, children are not permitted on the streets nor allowed to travel to and from the stricken towns. New cases are appearing and medical science has encountered another problem which seems to baffle solution.

Broad Oaks, a suburb of Clarkeburg, is waging war on rats as a precautionary measure. Poison was distributed by the municipal authorities to each householder with instructions that it be put out on the same day in hope that a wholesale slaughter of suspected carriers of the disease might occur.

Fears are entertained of a greater outbreak with warm weather. But figures compiled of such visitations in the past show there is no more probability of fresh attack in a stricken town than there is of an outbreak in a city which has previously been immune. However, practically all of the accepted views of the causes, nature and methods of prevention of the scourge have been upset by the present visitation.

It can only be hoped that it may result in some good through the wisdom which is gained in this newest emergency.—Uniontown Herald.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

An insurance man tells this one:
Not long ago there rushed into one of our offices in the south a very excited woman; so excited, in fact that she was out of breath and could speak with difficulty.

"What's the trouble?" asked one of the clerks.

"I want a policy at once—at once!"
exclaimed the woman, when she had recovered sufficiently to articulate.
"Our house is on fire!"

The clerk was up to his ears in parcels. He was a good salesman, and had a rare command of language and knew how to expatiate on the best points of the goods he sold. As he picked up a parcel from a lot on the counter and opened it he struck an attitude of admiration and said:
"Now, there! Look at that silk!
Isn't it lovely. Particularly observe the quality, the finish, the general effect. Feel it. Pass your hand over

it. No nonsense about this parcel, is there?"

"No," said the lady, "it has worn well. That is my old one. I just laid it down here."

The Boy That Was.

When the hair about the temples
starts to show the signs of gray.
And a fellow realizes that he's wandering far away
From the pleasures of his boyhood
and his youth and never more Will know the joy of laughter as he did in days of yore, Oh, it's then he starts to thinking of a stubby little lad
With a face as brown as berries and a soul supremely glad.

When a gray-haired dreamer wanders
down the lanes of memory
And forgets the living present for the time of "used-to-be,"
He takes off his shoes and stockings,
and he throws his coat away.
And he's free from all restrictions,
save the rules of many play.
He may be in tattered garments, but bare-headed in the sun
He forgets his proud successes and the riches he has won.
Oh, there's not a man that liveth but would give his all to be The stubby little fellow that in dreamland he can see.
And the splendors that surround him
and the joys about him spread Only seem to rise to taunt him with the boyhood that has fled.
When the hair about the temples
starts to show time's silver stain.
Then the richest man that's living yearns to be a boy again.

"BOB" MOUNTSIEUR TO REPORT WAR FROM THE ALLIED FRONT

Adams, newservice in reporting war news from the Allied fronts. Mr. Mountsier has had varied experience during the present war. He was with the German lines for about a year, writing special articles and he was engaged upon his return to America to take up the work among the allies.

INTEREST HIGH IN CHARLEROI HIGH SCHOOL GAME ON FRIDAY

Interest runs high in the coming basketball attraction Friday night at the high school when the McDonald high school will play Charleroi high school. The usual lineups will appear with both teams and this fact alone means a good game. McDonald has been coming to the front rapidly of late in a basketball way, having a team that will be hard to beat.

MERCHANT'S WIFE ADVISES CHARLEROI WOMEN

"I had stomach trouble so bad I could eat nothing but toast, fruit and hot water. Everything else soured and formed gas. Dieting did no good. I was miserable until I tried buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka, ONE SPOONFUL benefited me INSTANTLY." Because Adler-i-ka empties BOTH large and small intestine it relieves ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas and prevents appendicitis. It has QUICKEST action of anything we ever sold. Henning's Drug Store.

A Matter of Definition.
"What does citizen mean?" Eddie asked his sister.
"It means a man that lives in a city," answered the little girl.
"Then what do you call the people that live outside the city?" asked the boy.
"Oh, they are countrymen! Don't you remember that piece about fellow countrymen?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Carnations.
The carnation was cultivated by the ancient Greeks who gave it the name of Dianthus, flower of the gods. They used it for making chaplets, whence the name "coronation" was derived. It was partaken of at great banquets as a kind of salad.

A Second Wishing.
"I've just washed out a suit for my little boy, and now it seems too tight for him."
"He'll fit it all right if you'll wash the boy."—Veggendorfer Blaetter.

A Traffic Tragedy.
The panicky pedestrian hesitated the intersection of two busy streets. A motorcar was rushing upon him from one direction, from another point a motorcycle was approaching rapidly, an autotruck was coming from behind, and a taxicab was speedily bearing down upon him.
He gave a hopeless glance upward. Directly above him a runaway aeroplane was in rapid descent.
There remained for him but one resource. He was standing upon a manhole cover. Quickly seizing it, he lifted the lid, jumped into the hole—and was run over by a subway train!—New York Times.

The Moslem's Exalted Month.
Ramadan is the month exalted by Moslems above all others. In that month the Koran, according to Moslem tradition, was brought down by Gabriel from heaven and delivered to man in small sections. In that month Mohammed was accustomed to retire from Mecca to the cave of Hira for prayer and meditation. In that month Abraham, Moses and other prophets received their divine revelations. In that month the "doors of heaven are always open, the passages to hell are shut, and the devils are chained." So run the traditions.—Christian Herald.

Fifty-Fifty.
"My son," said the father impressively, "you are leading an absolutely useless life. For the last ten years you have done nothing but squander time and money."
"That's all right, dad," replied the unrepentant youth. "It isn't as if I was asking you to bear the whole burden. You just furnish the money, and I'll try to find the time."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Something In This.
Instead of the greeting, "How are you?" which makes it easy for your friends to discourse on their alleged ills, why not say "You're looking well?" which puts the burden of proof on the man who thinks he is ill.
There's an interesting bit of psychology in this.—Exchange.

CAST INTO OUTER DARKNESS

Book Agent Might Have Escaped Ignominy Had He Been Able to Get in a Word Before.

The snappy, self-confident man who forced his way past a doortender into the private office of a leading manufacturer, was somewhat taken aback when the personage of importance greeted him affably.

"Glad to see you," said the employer. "How are you today?"

"I am glad to see you, sir."

"Fine day."

"Yes, I understand you employ several hundred men here, and I just dropped in."

"Exactly, and I am proud of our workmen. They are the—"

"And I just dropped in to—"

"I suppose you wish to see the plant."

"Yes, but I—"

"Come with me."

"You see, I wish to see the men themselves."

"You wish to see them at work? Well, it is interesting. You know—"

"But, sir—"

"No trouble at all. Just come right on with me."

The employer, chatting the while at a rate that brooked no interruption, proudly shoved the visitor through every part of the large plant.

In vain the visitor repeatedly tried to crowd in a remark or two.

After a full half hour had passed, the employer, breathless, but pleased, escorted the visitor into the office again, and waved him into a seat.

The visitor seated himself, then desperately arose again.

"What I came here for," he blurted, "was to ask permission to see your workmen."

"Yes, yes, yes—"

"You see, sir, I am a book agent, and I—"

But his voice was drowned completely by the employer, who opened the door with one hand, pointed significantly with the other, and yelled at the top of his voice:

"Outside!"

DESERVES PLACE IN HISTORY

William Billings of Boston Heads the List of American Composers of Music.

America's first composer of any note was William Billings, who was born in Boston, October 7, 1746. In his youth he was a tanner, but a love for music led him to become a teacher of singing and a composer of psalm tunes, which eventually found their way into every church choir of New England and became great favorites with the people.

He published no fewer than six collections of tunes, all founded upon the new school of religious music then coming in vogue in England. Their contrast to the dismal old tunes previously in use naturally gave them an immense popularity; and, in fact, they effected a musical revolution in all the English colonies of America. They were far from being perfect in melody and harmony and would be considered very crude today, but the composer displayed an originality approaching genius, and had he enjoyed the educational advantages open to composers of today his compositions would doubtless have possessed a permanent value.

Seagoing Jitney.

In Los Angeles an electric car met a jitney bus with disastrous results, and among the passengers who were called upon to give testimony was a "jacks" from the monitor Cheyenne. His letter to the claim agent follows: "I was standing on the starboard forecastle of the car when the gasoline cutter hove in sight off our port bow. We were making 15 knots, and the cutter was coming about the same along another channel. It was clear weather and not much ground swell. "Our chief engineer blew his siren and reversed his propellers, but he couldn't leave her to in time to keep from ramming her. There wasn't even time to get out the life preservers or sound the emergency call. We smashed in a couple of the little craft's compartments. Her captain stuck to his post. The jitney went down like a submarine.

"I think the cause of the wreck was that the jitney's binnacle light was out."—Electric Railway Journal.

Gained Religion Rapidly.

A little five-year-old East Winthrop, Me., lad went to Sunday school with his sister, some older, and was much impressed with what he heard and saw. He talked considerably about his visit and his remarks were very interesting, he deciding that someone lived in heaven who could do any and all things.

It was soon after that the lad's mother had occasion to call him to her, and he, boylike, replied in the "just-a-minute" manner, remarking that it was going to rain and he wanted to catch some of the rainwater. The lady soon rebuked the summons and urged him along to see what he was doing, to find him just completing the setting of his dishes and to hear him say in childlike innocence: "All right, Dedus; let 'er rain!"—Kennebec Journal.

Plenty of Privacy Then.

"Is there such a place in this world as an ideal summer resort?" "Oh, yes," replied the cynical person who hates the society of his fellow man.

"Name it." "Almost any summer resort in mid-winter."

Why the Head of a Lion.

A custom there is in most parts of Europe to adorn aqueducts, sports and cisterns with lions' heads, which, though no illaudable ornament, is of an Egyptian genealogy, who practiced the same under a symbolical illusion. For because the sun being in Leo, the flood of Nilus was at the full and water became conveyed into every part, they made the spouts of their aqueducts through the head of a lion.—Sir Thomas Browne, "Vulgar Errors."
